Coronavirus vaccine scams

OFFICIAL

Coronavirus vaccinations are free of charge. The NHS will never:

- ✗ ask for your bank account or card details
- ✗ ask for your PIN or banking passwords
- ✗ arrive unannounced at your home to administer the vaccine
- ✗ ask for documentation to prove your identity, such as a passport or utility bills

The vaccine is only available on the NHS and is free of charge.

If you receive an email, text message or phone call purporting to be from the NHS and you are asked to provide financial details, or pay for the vaccine, this is a scam.

It explains the clever tactics used by romance fraudsters who are masters of manipulation and will go to great lengths to create a false reality in which an individual feels that they are making reasonable and rational decisions.

National Insurance Scam Phone Call

Action Fraud is warning the public about a National Insurance scam. Victims have reported receiving an automated telephone call telling them their “National Insurance number has been compromised” and in order to fix this and get a new number, the victim needs to “press 1 on their handset to be connected to the caller”.

You can report a scam call to Action Fraud via the website or by calling 0300 123 2040. Additionally, if you’ve received a suspicious phone call, you can help the HMRC’s investigations by providing your phone number, the caller’s phone number, the date and time of the call and a brief description to phishing@hmrc.gov.uk

Protect your online accounts: Use strong passwords

Passwords are essential to the security of online accounts. Cyber criminals have developed techniques to break-in to online accounts and act as the authorised user. These attacks are successful when users create weak passwords or utilise common techniques. Strong, unique passwords can combat these attacks. Please see the Police Digital Security Centre for further details.

Two-factor authentication to further protect your passwords

Two-factor authentication (2FA) can be enabled on important online accounts to protect them. Action Fraud say it is the single best thing you can do to improve the security of your most important accounts such as emails. It can protect the account even if the password has been stolen such as in cases of a data breach. It is an additional layer of protection for your accounts.
